MCI Center

Once muddy farmland resting beside the Potomac, then organized by L'Enfant's grand design, now a dramatic landscape accented by patriotic and inspirational icons, Washington, DC stands poised to welcome a building of motion and energy worthy of a place in the heart of the Nation's Capital—MCI Center.

In keeping with the 24-year tradition of innovation established by his US Airways Arena in Landover, Maryland, Abe Pollin will open the state-of-the art MCI Center in the fall of 1997 to be the home of the Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals plus big-time entertainment, cultural and sporting events. MCI Center, located at 7th and F Streets NW, will also host Georgetown University men's college basketball, the Nutrasweet® World Professional Figure Skating Championships, the Franklin National Bank Classic and the 1998 NCAA Men's Basketball East Region First/Second Rounds.

MCI Center will welcome area residents and millions of tourists to a unique combination of sports, entertainment and interactivity every day, all day.

Premium Seating

Featuring 3,000 club seats and 110 luxury suites, MCI Center's Premium Seating will offer unparalleled views of the Wizards rise to the NBA's elite and the Capitals drive to the Stanley Cup as well as the exclusivity, amenities and prestige that accompanies accommodations of this caliber.

Luxury suites begin just 19 rows from a Chris Webber to Juwan Howard no-look pass and feature all of the comforts of home in addition to providing access to every MCI Center event (approximately 200 annually) including sports, family shows and concerts. Each tastefully-appointed private suite contains 12 theatre-style seats with remote control television, phone, refridgerator and icemaker, private restroom, individually controlled heat and air conditioning. Two underground parking passes accompany your suite along with exclusive membership to the Capital Club Restaurant and Lounge. Access to our Business Service Center with meeting rooms, copier, fax, audio visual equipment and secretarial services provides you with the opportunity to utilize MCI Center for the growth and development of your business.

MCI Center

Fans can also watch Rod Strickland and Calbert Cheaney from the comfort of 21" extra wide Club Seats. The 3,000 Club Seats are located on a private concourse with its own outside entrance featuring mini-restaurants, private restrooms and the Capital Club, an exclusive restaurant for Premium Seating customers. Club Seat holders also have first priority to purchase tickets for other MCI Center events.

MCI National Sports Gallery

The MCI National Sports Gallery will commemorate and showcase the finest representations of American sports history by combining some of the most significant sports memorabilia collections in the world with interactive displays and environments.

Play a techno-age version of the old neighborhood game of H-O-R-S-E against an NBA superstar in a regulation-size basketball key.

Deliver the final pitches of the World Series with two balls, two strikes, two outs and the bases loaded in a virtual reality baseball environment.

Make a spectacular save in virtual goalie gear against hockey's greatest players.

The American Sportscasters Association Hall of Fame and Museum will also make its permanent home in the MCI National Sports Gallery. At each display, the voices that have become synonymous with great moments in sports history will narrate our memories. The voices of Curt Gowdy, Red Barber, Jim McKay, Harry Caray and many others will forever echo throughout the MCI National Sports Gallery.

Velocity Grill

Velocity Grill provides a unique dining experience in an innovative setting, mixing technological sophistication with an upscale sports theme.

- Spanning three levels, Velocity Grill elegantly embodies a glass, wood and steel interior with concepts unusual to the sports restaurant genre, including a glass floor overlooking the Wizards practice court, a cigar lounge and on-site video production capabilities.

Velocity Grill offers a wide assortment of micro brews, popular beers on tap and quality cuisine designed to appeal to a variety of tastes and budgets.

Capital Club

The Capital Club the fine dining restaurant destination for club seat and suite holders at MCI Center. Operated by Chicago's Levy Restaurants, its appeal will be great food, attentive service and an attractive ambiance in both a restaurant and bar setting. An open view of the event floor will compliment an extensive menu of diverse food and beverage offerings available for pre-game, game-time and post-game dining and entertaining.

Discovery Channel: Destination DC

In the same way that Discovery Channel has provided a new quality choice for worldwide TV viewers, Discovery Channel: Destination DC will offer an entirely new shopping experience with one-of-a-kind products and fascinating exhibits.

Discovery Channel: Destination DC offers stories and products themed around an imaginary journey beginning deep beneath the surface of the earth, continuing through an exploration of diverse cultures of the planet on the second floor and concluding on a third level in outer space surveying the wonders of the universe.

Modell's Sporting Goods Team Store

The nation's oldest and largest family-owned sports and apparel retailer, Modell's Sporting Goods will open its first ever "Team Store" in MCI Center. This new concept store will feature a complete line of Wizards and Capitals merchandise plus apparel from teams across the country. Founded in 1889, Modell's operates more than 70 stores, including seven locally, with more expansion planned, offering a full line of athletic equipment, shoes and apparel.

Wizards Identity

After 36 seasons of professional basketball, Washington's NBA franchise has introduced new logos and colors to accommodate the change of the team's nickname. Formerly known as the Bullets, the team tips off the 1997-98 season as the Washington Wizards. The new Wizards logos, created by the National Basketball Association, in collaboration with Nike, contain three vibrant colors: blue, black and bronze. The color blend represents the explosive energy that the basketball club brings to life and are synonymous with the colors that are prevalent in the logos of the Washington Capitals, Abe Pollin's NHL franchise.

"We wanted the NBA to design something sleek and progressive, showing action while giving the logo a classic look," said Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment Abe Pollin. "We feel this logo does all of these things and we are very proud of our new look."

The team's primary logo features a wizard leaping outstretched past the moon while holding a "burst of magic" in his right hand and spinning a basketball in his left hand. The Wizard, with a "W" emblazoned on his chest, is classic and precise. The "burst of magic" symbolizes the strength of the franchise and the spinning of the ball represents the team's talent. The moon takes on the appearance of a basketball and stands for the heights to which the franchise hopes to rise.

The secondary logo uses a modern, aggressive font to create the letters "dc." It places emphasis on the team's new home, at MCI Center, in the nation's capital. The Wizards wordmarks further illustrate the aura of energy and power with their bold, custom font. Through a licensing agreement with the NBA, Nike has obtained the right to produce authentic uniforms and courtside apparel for the Wizards, while Champion will create replica jerseys for the Wizards. All Wizards merchandise is available at Modell's Sporting Goods, the Wizards apparel headquarters, and through EPM Marketing at 1-888-598-4759.

The name change marks the third time in franchise history that the team has altered its nickname. After being created as the Chicago Packers in 1961, the club became the Chicago Zephyrs a year later. In 1963, Abe Pollin headed a group of investors which purchased the organization, moved the team to Baltimore and named the club the Baltimore Bullets.

"Wizard" symbolizes one who is the best at what he/she does. The name depicts energy and an omnipresent power and brings to light the wise and magical nature of the team. It serves as a positive image for both the players and the organization.

"As I have said many times before, this was not an easy decision for me," added Pollin. "The Bullets have been a part of me for many years. But I no longer wanted my team associated with anything with a violent connotation. That's why we changed the name."

Pollin announced his intentions to re-name his basketball club on November 9, 1995 as part of an anti-violence movement. Through promotional partners Boston Market and NBC4, fans were able to vote on their favorite new nickname, and on February 22, 1996, Pollin announced that Wizards would be the club's new moniker. In addition to the new name, logos and colors, the team established a conflict resolution program with a focus on peer mediation and conflict resolution among high-risk teens in the Washington and Baltimore metropolitan areas.

US Airways Arena

Professional basketball in Washington was born at a time when patriotism was high and the word 'bullets' sparked very different emotions than in today's society. In 1963, the Chicago Zephyrs moved into the Baltimore Arena and became the Bullets, named in honor of a local professional team which played in the 1940's and derived its nickname from a local war-time ammunition factory.

Times have changed. America is now moving to end violence and bring peace to its neighborhoods. Focusing ahead, Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment, has planned his next move in accordance with this national concern. Beginning this season, Washington's NBA franchise will take the floor as the Washington Wizards. The team will also leave the US Airways Arena behind when it complete a scheduled move into the state-of-the-art MCI Center on December 2, 1997.

After 24 years of hosting NBA basketball, US Airways Arena carries quite a legacy. Originally called the Capital Centre, the building was the top facility of its time, boasting the country's first luxury skyboxes and the now-popular four-sided suspended screen. The arena also housed Washington's first NBA World Championship team, the 1977-78 Bullets.

Over the years, US Airways Arena hosted many other grand events, including NBA and NHL All-Star Games, a variety of college basketball tournaments, the Moscow Circus, Disney on Ice, the World Professional Figure Skating Championship, the 1993 and 1997 Presidential Galas and countless concerts and other events, featuring the most talented performers in the world.

As the Wizards begin their inaugural season, enjoy the final games at US Airways Arena. Things will soon be different as the team moves downtown, but the spirit of the franchise will remain and continue on, looking to bring a bit of history into its new home.

Washington, DC

The Nation's Capital is a central point of interest for thousands of visitors each year. The most powerful city in the world offers a wide variety of exciting cultural and social outlets. The Wizards new home is located in the heart of downtown Washington, DC and is accessible to many of the following restaurants, museums, monuments, exhibits and clubs.

Monuments and Museums

FDR Memorial—15th Street, SW
This monument is the newest and, perhaps, the most unique of the local tributes to former presidents. The display is nestled on a tidal basin facing the picturesque Jefferson Memorial.

MCI Center—F Street between 6th and 7th, NW
Drop by on an off day and tour the Wizards new facility. Washington's newest monument houses a 20,000+ seat arena, the Wizards practice facility and a variety of museums and retail shops.

National Museum of African Art—Independence Avenue, SW
This Smithsonian Museum features traditional arts of the Sahara and North Africa, as well as modern art from the entire continent.

National Museum of American History—14th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW
This museum chronicles America's everyday life from the Revolutionary War through the Information Age. Many highlights from the nation's most extraordinary moments and achievements are featured at this historic museum.

United States Holocaust Memorial Museum—14th Street, NW
The only national memorial of the Holocaust. The permanent collection includes a railroad car used to transfer the prisoners to the death camps, reconstructed camp barracks and many personal items of memorabilia.

Dining Out?

Experience Washington's best restaurants and bars for your pre- and post-game outings.

B. Smith's—Union Station
In the midst of one of Washington's most quaint shopping environments, B. Smith's offers a great atmosphere and an exquisite menu.

Capital Grill—Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
A political hotspot. Located in the shadow of the Capitol, Capital Grill is only a few blocks from the new MCI Center and boasts one of the finest menus in the city.

Hard Rock Cafe—6th Street, NW
This haunt is a must in any city you visit. Check out the extensive collection of music paraphernalia and Hard Rock's wide menu.

Planet Hollywood—Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Gheorghe Muresan isn't the only movie star in this town! Washington D. C.'s version of Planet Hollywood boasts collector's items from a wide variety of movies and stars as well as a prime location, just blocks away from MCI Center.

That's Amore—Wisconsin Avenue, NW
All the pasta you can eat for a very reasonable price makes this restaurant great for large groups. The family-style menu gives everyone a chance to sample a wide variety of dishes.

The District Chop House—7th Street, NW
Grabbing a great steak either before or after the game will be a cinch at The District Chop House. Located just a block from MCI Center, The Chop House is well-known for its fine cuisine.

The Rock—6th Street, NW
Boasting several floors of pool, games and music, The Rock is a great place to meet with friends before and after Wizards games. Located across the street from the new building, The Rock is sure to become a fixture for fans.

Getting Around

Washington, DC offers one of the nation's finest means of public transportation. The Metro railway system is clean, convenient and accesses all parts of the city, including the surrounding suburbs. The system has five color-coded lines, all of which run within walking distance to MCI Center. The red, yellow and green lines include a stop at Gallery Place, actually located beneath the new arena.

What the smart executive will be wearing this year.

These days many people are trading in their business suits, briefcases and commutes for MCI's Paging, Internet access, E-mail, Audioconferencing, Document Conferencing and Videoconferencing. Allowing them to be highly productive on their own terms. Which is not only good for the executive, but for the company they work for. So why settle for just casual Friday, when with MCI Telecommuting you can have casual Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. For more information, call 1-800-999-9449.

ABE POLLIN

RESIDENCE:
Bethesda, MD

BIRTHDATE:
December 3, 1923

BIRTHPLACE:
Philadelphia, PA

PURCHASED THE TEAM:
October 24, 1964

BECAME TEAM'S SOLE OWNER:
July 23, 1968

In 1973 when Abe Pollin moved his NBA franchise to Washington and applied for a NHL franchise, it was his dream that both teams play in a new facility in downtown Washington, DC. At that time, the right opportunities did not present themselves for both the District and Pollin, so as history would have it, Pollin opened the state-of-the-art Capital Centre (now known as USAirways Arena) in Landover, Maryland. US Airways Arena prospered, offering the best accommodations of any sports facility at that time. The facility was completed in a record 15 months and included a host of unique features, including the first ever luxury seating situated above the arena floor and a Telescreen.

Despite success in Landover, Pollin never lost sight of moving his organization into downtown Washington. After twenty-four years of waiting for the "right opportunity," Pollin's dream has come true. The Wizards have appeared, MCI Center has evolved and Pollin could not be happier. MCI Center is a multi-million dollar sports and entertainment complex that will bring both the Washington Wizards and the Washington Capitals to the heart of downtown Washington, DC. Noted as being the most technologically advanced facility in the world, the entertainment complex will house the MCI National Sports Gallery, Discovery Channel Destination DC, The Modell's Team Store, Velocity Grill, and will also host an array of sporting and entertainment functions.

"It has been a long time coming and it is very exciting," said Pollin. "We are not only creating a first-rate sports and entertainment facility, but a major social and tourist attraction. Washington has been good to me. I have faith in the future of this city and am in a unique position to help bring positive changes to this area. I am confident that MCI Center will become the anchor to a revitalized downtown area."

There are a lot of astute businessmen in the sports industry, but what distinguishes Abe Pollin from the other genre of sports entrepreneurs is his commitment to social responsibility. He possess a passionate need to give back to the community which has made helping people in need a way of life. His philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations that he devotes his time to.

"We are put on this earth to do more than just take care of ourselves...It is crucial that we give back to the community more than we take out." — Abe Pollin

Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council for UNICEF, is Honorary Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope, and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in Washington, DC. Pollin is also the co-sponsor in the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed college education for 55 students. Pollin also serves as President of the Advisory Board for the American Foundation for Autistic Children and was instrumental in the construction of the Specialized Living and Learning Center in Olney, Maryland.

One of the biggest community efforts that Pollin is associated with is his self-initiated Anti-Violence Campaign. The on-going project which is supported by members of both the Wizards and

Chairman

Capitals, provides conflict resolution programs, educational programs and scholarship opportunities to area students. Perhaps the biggest anti-violence initiative was Pollin's decision to change the nickname of his NBA franchise from the Bullets to the Wizards. The team commenced operations under the new name Washington Wizards on May 15, 1997.

Not surprisingly, recognition of Pollin's remarkable record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. This has been a landmark year for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service. Within the last year, Pollin was the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the U.S. Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by the Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award, and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award.

As the longest tenured owner in the National Basketball Association, Pollin has been at the center of every major issue in the NBA, including the salary cap, and the expansion and the reform of the league's marketing efforts. In the process, he has become one of the most experienced and respected individuals in the world of professional sports.

As Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment Limited Partnership (WSLP), Pollin not only oversees the operations of the Washington Wizards and Washington Capitals, but also heads the company's two corporate umbrellas, Centre Management and TicketMaster Washington/Baltimore. Centre Management is a full-service organization whose responsibilities include management of MCI Center, USAirways Arena, Baltimore Arena, the Patriot Center of George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia, Marine Midland Arena in Buffalo, New York, and Cleveland State University Convocation Center.

A Washingtonian for the majority of his life, Pollin arrived with his family from his hometown of Philadelphia at the age of eight. After graduating from George Washington University in 1945, Pollin worked for his family's construction company until 1957 when he launched his own construction company. As a local contractor, Pollin constructed several large apartment houses and office buildings, including a building with the first ever roof-top pool.

In 1964, Pollin and two partners purchased the NBA's Baltimore Bullets for a then-record $1.1 million. Four years later, he became the team's sole owner. In 1972, Pollin expanded his empire by beating 12 qualified applicants and securing an NHL franchise that began play two years later as the Washington Capitals.

Quick to admit that we are put on earth to do much more than just take care of ourselves, Pollin is a man whose vision is matched only by his willingness to help improve the quality of life in this community and around the world. After thirty-three years in the business, Pollin continues to bring innovation to the industry. As he moves into a new era in franchise history with a new arena, a promising NHL franchise and a fresh, new name and logo for his NBA team, Pollin continues to display his personal trademarks of accomplishing the "impossible" and being the first to bring the best to sports.

Pollin lives in Bethesda, Maryland with his wife, Irene, a psychotherapist. They are avid travelers, and Pollin also enjoys playing tennis. Their elder son, Robert is an economics professor at the University of Southern California and resides with his wife in Riverside, California with their two daughters. Abe and Irene's youngest son, James, works for Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines in Florida.

Susan O'Malley

In 1988, when Abe Pollin asked then Director of Advertising, Susan O'Malley, to take over the business side of his NBA franchise on a temporary basis, O'Malley remembers being stunned.

"I was shellshocked," recalls O'Malley. "When Mr. Pollin called me into his office, I thought my time had come, I thought I was being fired." However, to her surprise she has embarked on an opportunity of a lifetime. "I recalled saying 'yeah, sure, I'll take it' and when I left the office, I said out loud, 'And I'm not giving this job up.'"

Nine years later, Susan O'Malley is still in charge, and through her efforts she has become one of the most successful and powerful women in professional sports. As President of Washington Sports and Entertainment, O'Malley oversees all business operations for both the Washington Wizards and the NHL's Washington Capitals. In addition to those responsibilities, this past year, O'Malley has worked tirelessly heading marketing efforts for MCI Center. As the key sales person for the new home of the Wizards and the Capitals, O'Malley helped secure key marketing deals with numerous corporate sponsors, making MCI Center not only a sports facility, but a unique entertainment complex. In addition, she has crafted clever advertising and promotion schemes to push the newly established Wizards logo.

"We are moving into a state-of-the-art facility with two promising teams and I want to ensure that we bring the most exciting entertainment to the fans because they definitely deserve it," said O'Malley.

Her trademark of "pro-active" customer service resurrected the same organization who ranked last to its counterparts in nearly every category when O'Malley took over the organization in 1988. O'Malley began heading operations at a time when the relationship between the front office staff and season ticket holders was virtually non-existent. "They complained that they never heard from us until their invoices were due," said O'Malley.

As a result of the ticket holders concern, O'Malley quickly initiated communication to ensure that their voices were heard. Since, the energetic O'Malley has created numerous ideas to form positive relationships with ticket holders, corporate sponsors and the media.

In addition to delivering superb customer service to ticket holders, she works diligently with her staff to create the very best game night promotions and operations to keep the fans coming back. O'Malley has incorporated a tough and rigid marketing philosophy that provides profitable results, but at the same time, generates excitement and visibility to the teams.

In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue year in the history of the franchise. In addition, that year, the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season. During the 1994-95 campaign, the club sold out a franchise record 30 home games and increased the record for average attendance by nearly 2,000 fans. During the 1995-96 campaign attendance continued to increase, as average attendance represented more than 93 percent of the arena's capacity. The club continued to see success in attendance last season as well, finishing with 29 home sellouts and producing the second highest average attendance in team history.

In addition to creating marketing and promotion strategies, O'Malley has also ensured that the Wizards are visible in the media as well. She works closely with the communications staff to ensure constant and positive images are being portrayed. Before the 1996-97 season, she engineered a deal with WRC (980 AM) to serve as the team's flagship radio station through the 1998-99 season. The team's weekly television show, "Jam Session," brought on by O'Malley in 1992, continues to receive rave reviews by both fans and media outlets. The show won an Emmy in its first season, and most recently for the 1996-97 season. O'Malley also oversaw the implementation of the team's video magazine this past season, which was created exclusively for season ticket holders. The video, which features up-close and personal segments on the team received outstanding feedback for its fourth and final video, a one-hour feature celebrating the end of the Bullets-era and the commencement of the Wizards, entitled, "Looking Back...Looking Forward."

President

"She is brilliant," said Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment. "Susan is full of innovative ideas and she works very hard. She sets an example for her staff because she is very, very tough, but very fair."

"We are in the entertainment business. It is our job to make sure that people who purchase tickets to a game have an entertaining evening and are treated as guests." —Susan O'Malley

A master motivator by nature, O'Malley creates competitive, yet fun contests to stimulate her staff and keep the work environment amusing. Her motivational tactics frequently extend out of the office as she accepts numerous speaking engagements at civic groups, schools and corporate retreats across the country. O'Malley is a board member of several charitable organizations and foundations and is a strong advocate of community service. For her commitment to youth, this year, O'Malley was the recipient of the Americanism Award from the Alexandria-Olympic Boys and Girls Club.

From a young age, O'Malley has always known her path in life. As a grade school student, she wrote a paper declaring her goal was to run a sports franchise. Although her teacher deemed the goal "unrealistic," O'Malley was not swayed. She began interning with the Bullets and the Capitals in the early 80's while she was still a college student. After graduating in 1983 with a bachelor of science degree in business and finance from Mt. St. Mary's, O'Malley worked for the Earle Palmer Brown advertising firm for three years. She then joined the Bullets in 1986 as the Director of Advertising. Successful in her rookie season, O'Malley then took the position of Director of Marketing the following season. In 1988, O'Malley was named Executive Vice President where she was given total responsibility of overseeing marketing, sponsorship, ticket sales, advertising, accounting and public and community relations of the organization. She assumed her current position on May 9, 1991.

O'Malley is a native of Clinton, Maryland and currently resides in Alexandria, Virginia.

Wes Unseld

Baltimore, MD

BIRTHDATE:
March 14, 1946

BIRTHPLACE:
Louisville, KY

DRAFTED:
First Round (2nd) in 1968 by Baltimore

RETIRED AS A PLAYER:
March 29, 1981

INDUCTED INTO HALL OF FAME:
May 3, 1988

HIRED AS GM:
May 1, 1996

From All-Star player to coach, to Hall of Famer, to General Manager, you name it, and Wes Unseld had done it. For nearly three decades, Unseld has made positive contributions to almost every facet of Abe Pollin's NBA franchise. His Hall of Fame play led the Bullets to their only NBA title in 1978, he motivated the team from the bench as the Bullets head coach for seven seasons, and assisted in the planning and development of MCI Center, the new home of the Wizards and the NHL's Washington Capitals. Most recently, Unseld has been charged with the reponsibility of building a basketball team capable of bringing a world championship back to the nation's capital.

On May 1, 1996 Unseld inked a contract to become the team's Executive Vice President and General Manager. Unseld wasted no time upgrading this team with key acquisitions. On July 15, 1996, Unseld obtained Rod Strickland, a top point guard and proven veteran in the NBA, and forward Harvey Grant from the Portland Trail Blazers. From the free agency frenzy last summer, Unseld re-signed All-Star forward Juwan Howard and back-up point guard Chris Whitney, and tabbed sharp shooting forward Tracy Murray and 6-foot-9 center Lorenzo Williams. His creations proved successful as the team's new acquistions helped secure post-season play for the first time in nine years.

"Wes has been a great asset to this organization since the day he played his first game," said Washington Sports and Entertainment Chairman, Abe Pollin. "Many times through the history of this franchise, I have turned to Wes to lead the way. As we enter a very exciting and important time in the team's development, I can think of no other candidate more appropriate to take us into the future than Wes Unseld. Wes has never let me down in anything he's ever done."

As Executive Vice President of Washington Sports and Entertainment for the past two years, Unseld managed the sponsorship, communications, community relations, and game operations for the Wizards and the Capitals. He also headed the research and planning of MCI Center. Scheduled to open December 2, 1997, the new arena will be a direct portrayal of Unseld's commitment to excellence.

After Unseld's stellar career came to a close in 1981, Pollin recognized the importance of keeping his dedicated, hard-working star in the organization. Unseld was immediately hired by Pollin to serve as a front office executive. Pollin felt that Unseld's winning ways would be a positive force in the day-to-day operation of the Bullets organization.

As vice president, Unseld devoted a great deal of time towards making special appearances. He became one of the NBA's most popular and prolific speakers. In addition, he worked as an analyst for Bullets telecasts and was directly involved in sponsorships and community.

Prior to the 1987-88 season, Bullets Head Coach Kevin Loughery saw Unseld as a great motivator and invited Unseld to extend his basketball knowledge to the team as an assistant coach. Just 27 games into the season, with the team struggling at 8-19, Pollin released Loughery of his coaching duties and selected Unseld to replace him. The Bullets responded dramatically to Unseld's leadership as head coach, compiling a 30-25 record during the remainder of the regular season, and bringing the Bullets into the playoffs. Unseld went on to complete six more seasons as Bullets head coach.

Exec. VP and General Manager

The 6-foot-7 Unseld, who was best known as a player for his bone-jarring picks and full-court outlet passes earned two All-America honors while playing at the University of Louisville. In 1968, he was chosen by Baltimore with the second selection in the first round of the NBA Draft.

"Many times through the history of this franchise, I have turned to Wes to lead the way. As we enter a very exciting and important time in the Bullets development, I can think of no other candidate more appropriate to take the Bullets into the future than Wes Unseld. Wes has never let me down in anything he's ever done." —Abe Pollin

Adapting to the rigors of the NBA came without difficulty for Unseld. Success came immediately, as Unseld's first NBA season graced him with not only Rookie-of-the Year honors, but the League's Most Valuable Player award as well. Only Wilt Chamberlain has been able to win both awards in the same season. Unseld was also selected to play in the NBA All-Star game that season, his first of five appearances.

Unseld also helped turn around the fortunes of the team as well. The Bullets improved 21 games in his rookie campaign. During the Unseld era, the franchise compiled a .580 winning percentage, compared with a .364 percentage prior to his days as a player. He was perhaps the greatest force in sending the Bullets to 12 consecutive playoff appearances, highlighted by the 1978 World Championship.

In the process, Unseld achieved numerous milestones and accomplishments. In the NBA record books, he ranks seventh all-time in rebounding; is one of a handful of players who have both scored 10,000 points and pulled down 10,000 rebounds; and is the Bullets all-time leader in games played, minutes, assists and rebounds. On May 3, 1988, he was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. Last season, Unseld was named as one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history.

Unseld's achievements on the court are not all that he has given to the public. He and his wife Connie opened up a school just outside of Baltimore that provides an excellent education to Baltimore youngsters. Connie, a school teacher during the 1970s, was frustrated with the education that children were receiving, and wanted to do all that she could to help remedy the situation.

The dream of the Unseld School became reality and has been an important part of the community ever since. Today, the Unseld School serves 200 students from preschool through fifth grade with a student-teacher ratio of 12:1.

Unseld has a slew of other notable achievements. In 1975, he was the first recipient of the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award, which is given annually to the NBA player or coach making the greatest contribution to his community. Unseld also served as Vice President of the NBA Players Association. He continues to volunteer countless hours towards community projects and runs the annual Wes Unseld Fantasy Camp in Annapolis, Maryland.

Wes, Connie, and their children, Kimberly (24) and Westley (22), reside in Baltimore, Md.

Bernie Bickerstaff

RESIDENCE:
Washington, D.C.

BIRTHDATE:
November 2, 1943

BIRTHPLACE:
Benham, KY

HIRED AS HEAD COACH:
February 10, 1997

On February 10, 1997, Bernie Bickerstaff became the 14th head coach in Bullets history. At the time, Owner Abe Pollin and General Manager Wes Unseld were seeking someone who not only knew the game well, but someone with the ability to handle talented players and get them to perform at their highest level. In Bernie Bickerstaff, they found just that.

"I think we have a team, the players and the potential to win the championship," said Owner Abe Pollin. "I believe that it will happen and I believe Bernie's the right guy to bring us there."

Bickerstaff was hired as Washington's Head Coach midway through the 1996-97 NBA season and was charged with turning around an underachieving, young squad. The 53-year-old Kentucky native immediately established himself in the Washington locker room and gained the respect and admiration of his players. Washington, which had a 22-25 record when Bickerstaff took the reigns, rebounded to post a 22-13 mark (.629) to finish the season. The team won 16 of 21 games down the stretch and vaulted into the 1997 NBA Playoffs, defeating the Cavaliers in Cleveland on the last day of the season.

Bickerstaff stepped down as general manager of the Denver Nuggets in order to return to Washington, where he served as an assistant coach from 1973-85.

"I'm very fortunate to be back with the organization that gave me my start, and I'm excited about the prospects of getting things done here," said Bickerstaff. "I feel lucky to be in a situation where I'm familiar with the community, the organization, and the owner."

Bickerstaff was named senior executive vice president of the Nuggets in 1990 and later assumed head coaching duties for the organization in 1995. In 32 games of the 1994-95 season, Bickerstaff led the team to a 20-12 record and a trip to the first round of the NBA Playoffs.

The following year, despite being hampered by injuries, the Nuggets posted wins over all four conference finalists. In an effort to build a stronger talent base for the Nuggets, Bickerstaff stepped down as head coach and assumed the duties as the team's general manager.

Bickerstaff's NBA experience also includes five seasons as the Sonics' Head Coach. He joined Seattle in the 1985-86 season and led the Supersonics to three post-season appearances, including a trip to the 1987 Western Conference Finals. Bickerstaff began his NBA coaching career in Washington in 1973, joining the Bullets as the youngest assistant in the NBA at 29. During his tenure in Washington, Bickerstaff helped the team reach post season play 10 times, the NBA Finals three times and won the 1978 NBA Championship.

Bickerstaff's college coaching career began at his alma mater, the University of San Diego, where he received his degree in 1968 and was a two-year letterman for the Toreros. Following his college playing career, he turned down an offer to play for the Harlem Globetrotters to become an assistant coach at USD. Two years later he became head coach, finishing with a career winning percentage of .530 in four years.

Bickerstaff was named to the USA Basketball Men's Senior Team Committee and is on the NBA's Competition Committee. In 1995, he was inducted into the University of San Diego's Hall of Fame. Other accolades include the prestigious

Head Coach

Horace Mann Award for Leadership, awarded in 1987, and the 1987 Sports Person of the Year, presented by the New York Pro-Am Basketball Association.

His hometown of Benham, KY dedicated a street in Bickerstaff's name. Bickertaff and his wife Eugenia reside in Washington, D.C.

"We've got the chance to become a hell of a basketball team, and I don't have any reason to doubt that's what we'll become."
—Bernie Bickerstaff

Jim Brovelli

Assistant Coach

Jim Brovelli joins the Wizards' staff after two seasons in Denver. Brovelli began his stint with the Nuggets during the 1995-96 season when he was named the team's director of player development. During the 1996-97 campaign, Brovelli added the title of assistant coach and moved onto the Nuggets bench.

No stranger to coaching, Brovelli spent 25 years in the collegiate ranks. Prior to his work with the Nuggets, he headed the University of San Francisco basketball program from 1984-1995 after spending 11 seasons at the University of San Diego, where he led the Toreros to a West Conference Championship and a NCAA Tournament appearance.

He was honored as the WCC Coach of the Year as well as the District 14 Coach of the Year in 1984. In addition, he coached the Japanese National Team and was a volunteer coach for the Minnesota Timberwolves in the summer of 1987. Brovelli served as a member of the Recruiting Committee and the Academic Committee for the NCAA. In 21 seasons as a college head coach, he posted a career record of 291-285 (.505)

Brovelli received a degree in business administration from the University of San Francisco in 1964 and holds a master's degree from the University of Pacific (1966). He and his wife, Nada, have two children, Michael and Michele.

Mike Brown

Assistant Coach

In his first season with the Wizards', Mike Brown makes the move to the sidelines after five seasons assisting the coaching staff of the Denver Nuggets, most recently as an advance scout. A 1992 graduate of the University of San Diego, Brown holds a bachelor's degree in business and was a two-year letterman for the Toreros basketball team. He was the club's captain both seasons, earning all-conference honors each year and was the recipient of both the USD Zable Athletic Excellence Award and the Bugelli Leadership Award.

Prior to USD, Brown played at Mesa Community College (AZ) from 1988-90, leading the Thunderbirds to a 32-3 record and a consensus number one ranking in the final junior college standings his sophomore year. He earned first team all-region honors and was selected to play in the prestigious U.S.-Texas Junior College All-Star Game in 1990. Brown and his wife, Carolyn, have two sons, Elijah Anthony and Cameron Michael.

John Outlaw

Assistant Coach/Head Scout

In his first season as assistant coach/advance scout for the Wizards, John Outlaw will assist Brovelli and Brown with their coaching duties. In addition, he will oversee the scouting of NBA opponents. Associated with the Denver Nuggets since 1990, for the past three seasons, Outlaw was responsible for the Nuggets' college and professional scouting efforts and assisted in the preparation for the NBA Draft.

An 11-year veteran in the NFL, Outlaw played cornerback for the New England Patroits from 1968-73 and the Philadelphia Eagles from 1974-79. He later served as an assistant football coach at North Carolina Central University from 1979-90.

Outlaw received his bachelor's degree in industrial engineering from Jackson State (MS), where he was a three year letterman in football for the Tigers. He also holds a master's degree in criminal justice from Coppin State (MD). Outlaw and his wife, Linda, have one son, John Jerome.

Chuck Douglas

Director of Player Personnel

Chuck Douglas is beginning his 13th season with the Washington Wizards organization and his first year as Director of Player Personnel. He is the team's top evaluator of talent, both at the collegiate and professional levels, while overseeing the Wizards scouting system, which includes Europe and the CBA. Douglas is also available for scouting assignments within the NBA.

Douglas brings a lengthy and experienced resume to the Wizards basketball operations office, first serving as the team's Video Coordinator before being promoted to the positions of Head Scout and Assistant General Manager.

Before joining the basketball operations side of the organization, the Springfield, VA native spent three seasons as the Assistant Public Relations Director. His extensive sports background also includes working with ProServ, a Washington, D. C.-based sports marketing and law firm, the 1984 Los Angeles Olympic Committee, and the University of Maryland Sports Information Office.

Douglas holds a degree in Sports Administration from the University of Maryland and resides in Alexandria, VA.

Jim Lynam, Jr.

Video Coordinator

Jim Lynam, Jr., enters his fourth season as the team's video coordinator. Lynam is responsible for all Wizards and opponents game footage. Additionally, he assists the basketball operations staff with advanced NBA scouting and general college scouting, as well as video breakdown duties.

A graduate of the University of Delaware, Lynam spent two seasons with the Philadelphia 76ers as video coordinator and assistant to basketball operations. Prior to his stint working in the NBA, Lynam also worked for Airbourne Express in their information systems department. He resides in Annapolis, MD.

Wes E. Unseld

Basketball Operations Assistant

Wes E. Unseld enters his first season as the Wizards basketball operations assistant. Unseld will provide support to the coaching and basketball operations staff by assisting with various scouting and video duties.

Unseld, the son of Wizards General Manager Wes Unseld, is a 1997 graduate of John Hopkins University where he was a four-year letterman for the BlueJays.

Kevin Johnson

Head Trainer

As the man responsible for keeping Wizards players in top condition throughout the arduous season, Kevin Johnson's professionalism and expertise has proven successful for the Wizards as he enters his fourth season with the team. He is a member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association and has served as the chairman of the public relations committee for Indiana Athletic Trainer's Association since 1992.

Prior to joining the Wizards, Johnson worked as the assistant trainer for the Indiana Pacers for four seasons and spent six months with the Indianapolis Colts as an assistant trainer. Johnson also performs training duties for a variety of athletic events througout the off-season.

Johnson graduated from Indiana State University in 1989 with a Bachelor of Science in Physical Education, with a specialization in Athletic Training. He is actively involved in the Big Brothers of America. Johnson and his wife Sheila reside in Bowie, MD.

Dennis Householder

Strength and Conditioning Coach

Dennis Householder begins his ninth full season as the Wizards Strength and Conditioning Coach. A 1975 physical education graduate of Shepherd College in West Virginia, Householder coached high school football on Maryland's Eastern Shore for two seasons before joining the team in 1987.

He is a certified Level I coach of the United States Weightlifting Federation and maintains a membership in the National Basketball Conditioning Coaches Assoc., as well as with the National Strength and Conditioning Assoc. Householder is co-author of the book NBA Power Conditioning. He resides in Crofton, MD, with his wife Debbie.

Charlie Butler

Equipment Manager

With 19 years of experience, Charlie Butler is one of the longest tenured members of the Wizards staff. Butler joined the team in 1978 while working at the athletic facilities at Bowie State University. Today, he handles virtually all of the behind-the-scenes maintenance of the team, including locker room preparations and the team's laundry needs. Butler and his wife, Theresa, reside in Crofton, MD.

Jerry Walter

Assistant Equipment Manager

Jerry Walter begins his seventh full season as Assistant Equipment Manager for the Wizards. Prior to joining the team's operations staff, Walter was a production manager for Rainbow Sports, a local promotions and novelties company. Walter served in the U.S. Army for three years and worked in law enforcement for three years in Houston, TX. Walter also assists in operations for various other events including the Georgetown Hoyas, Washington Warthogs and Washington Capitals. He resides in his native Wheaton, MD.

One of the longest tenured employees in the organization, Judy Holland begins her 15th season with the organization. In her current position, Holland oversees the Community Relations and the Special Events departments for both the NBA's Wizards and the NHL's Capitals.

Under her supervision last season, the Community Relations department was responsible for such acclaimed ventures as the Anti-Violence Campaign, the court and rink resurfacing projects, canned food drives, the Capitals Check it Out Reading Program and game night silent auctions for both teams. Prior to being named vice president in 1991, Holland served as the team's community relations director for three seasons and also held the positon of public relations assistant. During her tenure, Holland has also coordinated programs such as the Stay in School initiative and the Wives Save Lives campaign.

A graduate of Hampton Institute in Virginia with a degree in mass media, she was a staff writer for the Frederick News and Post before joining the Bullets. A native of Frederick, MD, she now resides in Mitchellville, MD.

Rick Moreland

VP of Corporate/Ticket Sales

In his 10th season with the team, Rick Moreland begins his second season overseeing the sponsorship division of Washington Sports and Entertainment. He also serves as vice president of sales for the Wizards and the Capitals. Moreland joined the organization in 1988 as the team's director of public relations and became vice president of communications in 1991. A year later, Moreland shifted gears again moving to Baltimore to handle all aspects of the team's four-game series at the Baltimore Arena, as well as supervising the team's broadcast responsibilities.

Prior to joining the team, Moreland worked in the athletic department at the University of Maryland Baltimore County, including roles as Associate Athletic Director and Assistant Basketball Coach. At 6-foot-7, Moreland played basketball for UMBC, and in 1983 was a ninth round draft choice of the Bullets. A 1983 Broadcasting/Media graduate of UMBC, he completed his Masters Degree in public relations at the University of Maryland. Rick and his wife Susan reside in Davidsonville, MD, with their three children, Ricky (10), Ryan (9), and Alexandra (7).

Matt Williams

VP of Communications

Matt Williams begins his seventh season with the team, his third as the Vice President of Communications for Washington Sports and Entertainment. In his current position, Williams oversees the public relations and broadcasting divisions for both the Wizards and Capitals. This season, Willaims has taken on the added responsibility of directing the Game Operations department as well. Williams also serves as the Executive Producer for the Wizards Emmy Award Winning television show, Jam Session, and oversees the production of the Wizards and Capitals video magazines.

Prior to joining the Wizards, Williams spent two years as a publicist for Centre Management, the arena and event management umbrella of Washington Sports and Entertainment. Williams also spent two seasons as the assistant public relations director for the Atlanta Hawks.

A 1987 graduate of Emory University in Atlanta, Williams has previous experience with the Atlanta Braves, Atlanta Falcons and CNN. Matt resides in Alexandria, Va.

Rhonda Ballute

Exec. Dir. of Cust. Serv. and Box Office

The team's philosophy of "pro-active" service has never been more evident than with Rhonda Ballute in charge. For the third straight season, Rhonda will oversee all aspects of customer service, mail order and box office activities for both the Wizards and the Washington Capitals. Most recently, Rhonda was instrumental in the seat reassignments for MCI Center to accommodate our season ticket holders. She and her husband Eddie reside in Bowie, MD, with daughters, Amanda (10) and Kelsie (4).

Jennifer Flynn

Director of Club Seat Services

Jennifer is one of the newest employees of Washington Sports and Entertainment, joining the organization as the Director of Club Seat Services for MCI Center.

Flynn, 26, a native of Albany, New York, has worked for the past three years with the San Antonio Spurs in their Fan Relations Department. She has also worked for the State of New York in the Quality Control Division. The 1993 graduate of State University of New York at Oswego lives in Laurel, MD and is engaged to be married in October of 1998 to Michael Robinson.

Tara Greco

Director of Community Relations

In her fifth season with the organization and second as Director of Community Relations, Tara Greco has made great strides within her department. She currently oversees community events for both the Wizards and the Washington Capitals. During her tenure, she has developed a variety of reading incentive programs and anti-violence initiatives.

A native of Washington, DC, Greco received her Finance degree from William & Mary and currently resides in Arlington, VA.

Kerry Gregg

Senior Director of Customer Service

As Kerry Gregg enters her 18th season with the organization, one of the longest tenures in Washington Sports and Entertainment, she enters her first year as the Senior Director of Customer Service. In addition to customer service responsibilies, Kerry also oversees ticket operations for the box office and mail order departments.

Gregg graduated from Lake Superior State with a degree in sports marketing. She resides in Alexandria, VA.

Joe Keough

Comptroller

In just his second season as Comptroller for the Wizards, Joe Keough brings over twenty-three years of accounting and management experience to the team. His background includes working five years for the Baltimore Orioles as controller and director of ticket operations.

A graduate of the University of Baltimore, Joe and his wife Jean currently reside in Baltimore County.

Yvon Labre

Director of Special Projects

A 14-year veteran of the Capitals franchise, Yvon Labre enters his third season working with the Wizards Commmunity Relations Department. In his current role, Labre is responsible for coordinating various community and charity events for both the Wizards and Capitals.

An original member of the 1974 Capitals team, Labre's #7 jersey is the only one retired by the Capitals. In 1981, Labre retired from the ice and became an assistant coach. He later became a color commentator for TV broadcasts.

He and his wife Janice live in Bowie, MD, with their children Corey and Jocelyn.

Reed Laughlin

Dir. of Broadcasting/Game Operations

Reed Laughlin enters his new position as Director of Broadcasting and Game Operations with a host of communication experience. This season marks his fifth year developing programming for the Wizards Emmy Award Winning weekly television show, Jam Session. It is the second consecutive season in which he will be responsible for all facets of Wizards and Capitals broadcasting. In addition. he will oversee all game night operations.

A 1989 graduate of Salisbury State Uniersity with a degree in Broadcast Communications, Laughlin lives in Silver Spring, MD with his wife Kathy and son Jacob.

Maureen Lewis

Director of Public Relations

This year marks Maureen Lewis' third season as the Director of Public Relations for the Washington Wizards. As the Wizards liaison between the media and team management and players, Lewis leads a communications staff which coordinates all media interview requests. Additionally, she is responsible for game night press accommodations, news conferences, and production of media information, including team publications, game notes, and statistics.

Lewis is a 1988 Sports Marketing graduate of Bowling Green State University. She resides in Alexandria, VA.

Jerry Murphy

Director of Sales

This season marks Jerry Murphy's 13th season with Washington Sports and Entertainment, and is his first as the Director of Sales with the Washington Wizards. Murphy spent the previous six years as the Director of Sales for the Washington Capitals (1992-1997) and prior to that, he served in a broad range of roles throughout the organization from regional sales manager to assistant director of promotions and advertising.

Murphy is a graduate of Springfield College in Massachusetts. He and his wife, Susan, reside in Columbia, MD with their newborn baby boy, Hunter.

Diane Sulima

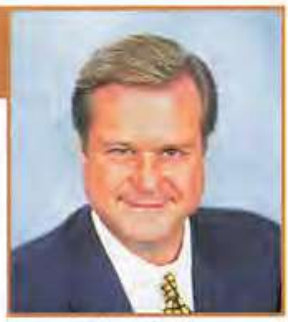
Senior Director of Advertising

A new member of the Wizards organization, Diane Sulima begins her first season as the Senior Director of Advertising for the team. Sulima brings a host of skills and more than 13 years of marketing experience to the organization. In her current position, she is responsible for overseeing the creation, development and implementation of all advertising and direct marketing campaigns for the team.

Prior to joining the Wizards, Sulima worked for Sky Allard Marketing. A graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in Marketing, Diane resides in Annapolis with her husband, Brad.

Broadcasters

Steve Buckhantz



Television Play-by-Play Announcer

With over 20 years of experience in sports reporting and anchoring, Steve Buckhantz begins his first season as the voice of the Washington Wizards. Buckhantz joins the team after serving as WTTG's Fox 5 Sports Director and Sports Anchor for the past 10 years.

Prior to joining Fox, Buckhantz was a weekend sports anchor for WSB-TV in Atlanta where he received a Georgia Emmy for local sports reporting. Buckhantz also has announced play-by-play for the Fox Network, college basketball and filled in as the play-by-play announcer for the Wizards during the 1996-97 campaign.

Orginally from Washington, DC, Buckhantz grew up in Arlington, VA and is a graduate of James Madison University.

Phil Chenier

Television Analyst

Phil Chenier, the former Bullets All-Star, will provide the color commentary for his 14th straight season. Chenier played nine seasons for the Bullets and made three all-star appearances before retiring in 1981.

During the summer, Chenier extends his basketball expertise at his youth basketball camp co-directed by David DuPree, sports columnist for USA Today. He is also the director for student activities at Howard Community College. He lives in Columbia, MD, and has three children, April, Phillip and Adelle.

1997-98 WIZARDS PLAYERS

The Excitement Is Building

by Wes Unseld

Washington, D. C. has a lot to be excited about. With a new name, new colors and a new home, the stage is set for the Washington Wizards to contend for an NBA Championship. Success is a building process as teams improve in steps during the course of several seasons. Through the years, Washington has acquired a group of players through trades, the NBA Draft and free agency, that when fully developed, are capable of beating any team the league has to offer. The Wizards have shown improvement in each of the past several seasons and, having qualified for the 1996 NBA Playoffs, I believe that we are just a few steps removed from achieving our dreams.

The Wizards currently have 12 players under contract for the 1997-98 season. This summer, we have been able to re-sign three of our own free agents. I am a person that believes that you can't stand pat and keep getting better, but I think this group is still young and should be allowed to grow together. I think we started to see what they can do toward the end of last season and I think that we should give them an opportunity to continue to improve. We are still going to be looking to add something to this team in whatever subtle way that can help. As the off-season concludes, we hope to finish surrounding our core unit of talented players with another player who will make us a deeper, more competitive team.

With the arrival of Head Coach Bernie Bickerstaff, Washington became one of the hottest teams in the NBA by the end of the season. The team won 16 of their last 21 games, including the last eight straight at home, an advanced into the playoffs for the first time in nine years. This summer, Bernie has reorganized his coaching staff to include several assistants with whom he had worked with in previous coaching stints. These gentlemen are quality people with impressive credentials and I am sure that they will compliment our team's style and relate well with the players.

Without question, our roster includes some of the most talented young players in the NBA. Chris Webber is capable of being one of the most dominant players in the league. After fighting through injuries in his first two seasons in Washington, Webber produced an All-Star season last year, averaging 20.1 ppg, 10.3 rpg and 4.6 apg. His play down the stretch earned him NBA Player of the Week during the final week of the season and helped Washington receive a birth in the playoffs. Webber is a tremendous talent who is driven to help this team play to its potential.

Webber's frontcourt mate, Juwan Howard, is a budding superstar as well. Howard posted 19.1 ppg, 8.0 rpg and 3.8 apg in just his third NBA season. Howard was named to the All-NBA Team during the 1995-96 season and captured NBA Player of the Month honors for April, several Player of the Week awards and was a member of the All-Star team. Juwan's talents extend off of the court as he has established himself as a leader and a role model in the Washington lockerroom as well as in the community.

On July 15, 1996, we obtained the services of Rod Strickland, Harvey Grant and Tracy Murray. All three players made significant contributions to our team last year. Strickland is the type of player who makes his teammates better because of his ability to penetrate the defense and create. His veteran leadership is invaluable as this team prepares to drive deeper into the NBA Playoffs. Grant is a versatile wing player who has shown to be equally effective defending both the big guards and small forwards and Murray is an excellent three-point shooter who played his best basketball of the year in the postseason.

Calbert Cheaney and Gheorghe Muresan round out our talented group of core players. Cheaney has a unique ability to defend as well as create scoring opportunities for himself. At 7' 7", Gheorghe is a menace on the defensive end of the court and is almost automatic in the post. Last season, Muresan led the league in field goal percentage (.604) and eaned the league's Most Improved Player Award for the 1995-96 NBA season.

With the No. 46 pick in the 1997 NBA Draft, we selected guard God Shammgod out of Providence College. His acquisition gives us a talented young point guard to back up Rod Strickland and allows us to give Chris Whitney some time at shooting guard. Shammgod was named to last year's NCAA Tournament All-Tournament team after an impressive run with the Friars. We feel very fortunate to have obtained a player with "first-round" talent with a pick late in the second round. The Wizards used the No. 49 pick to select Predrag Drobnjak from Yugoslavia. He is a 6' 11" center who plays a very physical game. Due to contractual obligations, he may not join our team for the 1997-98 season, but he is a name to look out for down the road.

With this team's maturing talent and the dedication of its players and coaches, we're looking to take the next step to success during the upcoming season. Washington, indeed, has a lot to be excited about!

Wizards in the Community

Congratulations to the Washington Sports and Entertainment Community Relations Department on their earning national recognition from the Pro Team Community Award Program for their creative and meaningful work during the 1996-97 NBA season.

OUR HOUSE. OUR RULES.

1997-98 begins the Wizards third season of the "Our House. Our Rules. Earn your respect by learning to respect." initiative. Posters, with a new series of conflict-resolution suggestions, are distributed to area schools and a new PSA featuring Chris Webber and a "respecting differences" message is available for interested parties. The team is continuing to sponsor the "Time-out From Violence" speech contest as a forum for area junior high and middle school students to share their opinions on violence in their community and offer suggestions for solving problems. Additionally, the team sponsors a peer mediation training workshop for junior high students in the metropolitan area.

IMAGINITIS is a cooperative classroom project in which every student conceives, designs, produces and delivers an individual and team book built around non-violence and peer mediation. Mr. Pollin has been instrumental in coordinating the resources behind Imaginitis as a part of the Wizards dedication to help reduce violence and create safe schools in Washington, DC. 1997-98 begins the third season that this program has been a part of the Wizards Anti-Violence Initiative.

According to a two-year, national study conducted by the University of Minnesota Cooperative Learning Center, Imaginitis students were better able to resolve conflict without violence than students who did not participate in the program.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Once again, the Wizards are administering the PICK & ROLL reading incentive program throughout Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area elementary schools. The program targets fourth, fifth and sixth grade students. Juwan Howard serves as the spokesman of the program. Participating students are required to read eight (8) books between December and February. A prize is awarded to each student who completes the requirements. Approximately 35,000 students in more than 350 elementary schools participated in last year's program, while more than 6,000 students completed the requirements. Each participating classroom recieves a poster and textbook package. The school with the highest percentage of students completing the program recieves a visit from a Wizards player in order to read a story.

The Wizards summer reading incentive program, HOOPSMARKS, targets "Young Adults" (children ages 10-14). Materials for the program are available throughout local public library systems. Children reading 12 books during the summer are awarded a pair of tickets to a Wizards game.

JAZZ SPORTS DC is a highly successful school-based jazz education outreach project that is sponsored by the Thelonious Monk Institute of Jazz. The Wizards co-host an assembly, coordinate special master classes and sponsor lectures and mini concerts with renowned jazz masters for Shaw JHS. The student jazz ensemble participates in National Anthem performances and half-time shows throughout the 1997-98 season.

The Wizards serve as Honorary Chairs of the 24 CHALLENGE Math program, a math skills game for over 150,000 metro area children in grades 4-8, this season.

KIDS N' KOPS

Kids N' Kops fosters positive relationships between police officers and area youth. The Wizards supply the DC Police Department with Wizards player trading cards. Each card features a player on the front and a conflict resolution tip on the back. When kids introduce themselves to a police officer, he or she gives them a card. After collecting a full set of six player cards, the children are rewarded with a ticket to a Wizards game.

TEAM-UP CHALLENGE

The Wizards are sponsoring a "community improvement" contest for Washington DC junior highs, middle and high schools. The team tips-off the program with a clean-up day at Shaw Junior High on October 29th. Schools are invited to submit a community service project proposal to the Wizards. The schools then create and implement the proposed project. The winning school receives a block of tickets to a game at MCI Center, a pre-game reception and an award, presented at half-time.

FEED THE HOMELESS

The 1998 Feed the Homeless event, with Deer Park and Modell's, is scheduled to be held in February at MCI Center. The Wizards will be in attendance to serve a meal to the homeless community in Washington DC. Additionally, Mr. Pollin and the Fannie Mae Foundation will be funding a lunch program every Thursday at Calvary Baptist Church, located near MCI Center.

ADOPT-A-SCHOOL

ADOPT-A-SCHOOL

The Wizards are continuing a partnership with Shaw Junior High School. The team provides select resources, participates in the school's tutoring program and hosts a "study hall" once a week for Shaw students.

NIKE/JR. WIZARDS BASKETBALL LEAGUE
The Wizards and the D.C. Department of Recreation and Parks organize, recruit and oversee a basketball league for children between the ages of six and twelve. Approximately 5,000 kids participate in the program each year. Regular season games are held at recreation facilities in the city from December through March. Championship games are played as a preliminary event on February 28th, when the Wizards host Dallas at MCI Center. A Wizards' player conducts a clinic in each of the five city regions during league play.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH
The Wizards co-host an art contest for Junior High School students in Washington, DC with the Fannie Mae Foundation. The winners' works are displayed at the MCI Center during the Wizards/Warriors game, February 26th, and will be recognized at half-time. All entrants receive a certificate from the Wizards and the Fannie Mae Foundation. The Wizards, also, continue to broadcast vignettes, in which players highlight important figures in black history, throughout the month of February.

OUTREACH PROGRAMS
The Wizards host their annual HOLIDAY FOOD DRIVE, to benefit the National Capital Area Community Food Bank, on November 21st, when the Wizards take on the New York Knicks. Each fan donating a non-perishable food item receives a ticket to a future game.

The Wizards co-host a TOYS FOR TOTS DRIVE with the U.S. Marine Corps when the team plays Charlotte, December 19th at MCI Center. All donated toys are dispersed to local needy children through the Marine Corps program. Each fan donating an unwrapped, new toy at the door, receives a ticket to a future game.

The Wizards host a SNEAKER DRIVE on March 5th, when the team hosts New York. The team encourages fans to bring their old, worn out sneakers to be recycled. The shoes will be broken down to create a playground surface for a local school. Donors will receive a coupon for a discount on a new pair of athletic shoes.

The Wizards team up with Share our Strength and Greater DC Cares to host a 62-game, 10-day-long basketball tournament at the MCI Center practice gym. Twenty-two corporate teams donate funds and volunteer hours in order to participate in the CORPORATE CHALLENGE.

COURT RESURFACING
The Wizards select two outdoor locations in the Washington, D.C. area to continue the court refurbishing project this season. New backboards and rims are installed at each site in addition to the creation of a new playing surface. Through the Fall of 1997, the team has completed 12 local courts.

FANNIE MAE HOME TEAM
The Wizards continue to work with Fannie Mae refurbishing homes in the Shaw neighborhood of Washington, DC. The team hosts a sports memorabilia auction on April 5th, when the Wizards play Orlando at MCI Center, to benefit the Home Team Fund.

TICKET DONATIONS
The Wizards make available, on a select basis, tickets to charitable, non-profit organizations. Charitable groups in the Washington DC metropolitan area can request free tickets to a Wizards game by sending a written request.

GALLAUDET GAME
The Wizards assist the NBA in running a Republicans vs. Democrats charity basketball game in October to benefit Gallaudet University. This is the fourth time the team has participated in the bi-annual event.

NBA in the Community

On the court, Terrell Brandon has distinguished himself as one of the best point guards in the NBA. The two-time All-Star and leader of the Cavaliers is known for his quickness and ability to create scoring opportunities for himself and his teammates. Brandon is also known as one of the true gentlemen of the game, bringing high standards of ethical behavior, fair play and integrity to the hardwood. As a result of his on-court sportsmanship, Brandon was honored as the 1996-1997 winner of the NBA Sportsmanship Award. Brandon joined Joe Dumars, the first recipient of the award.

Brandon's award is part of a larger program, the NBA Sportsmanship Initiative, one of several community programs implemented by the league. The initiative also includes the NBA Student-Athlete Sportsmanship Program and a public service campaign.

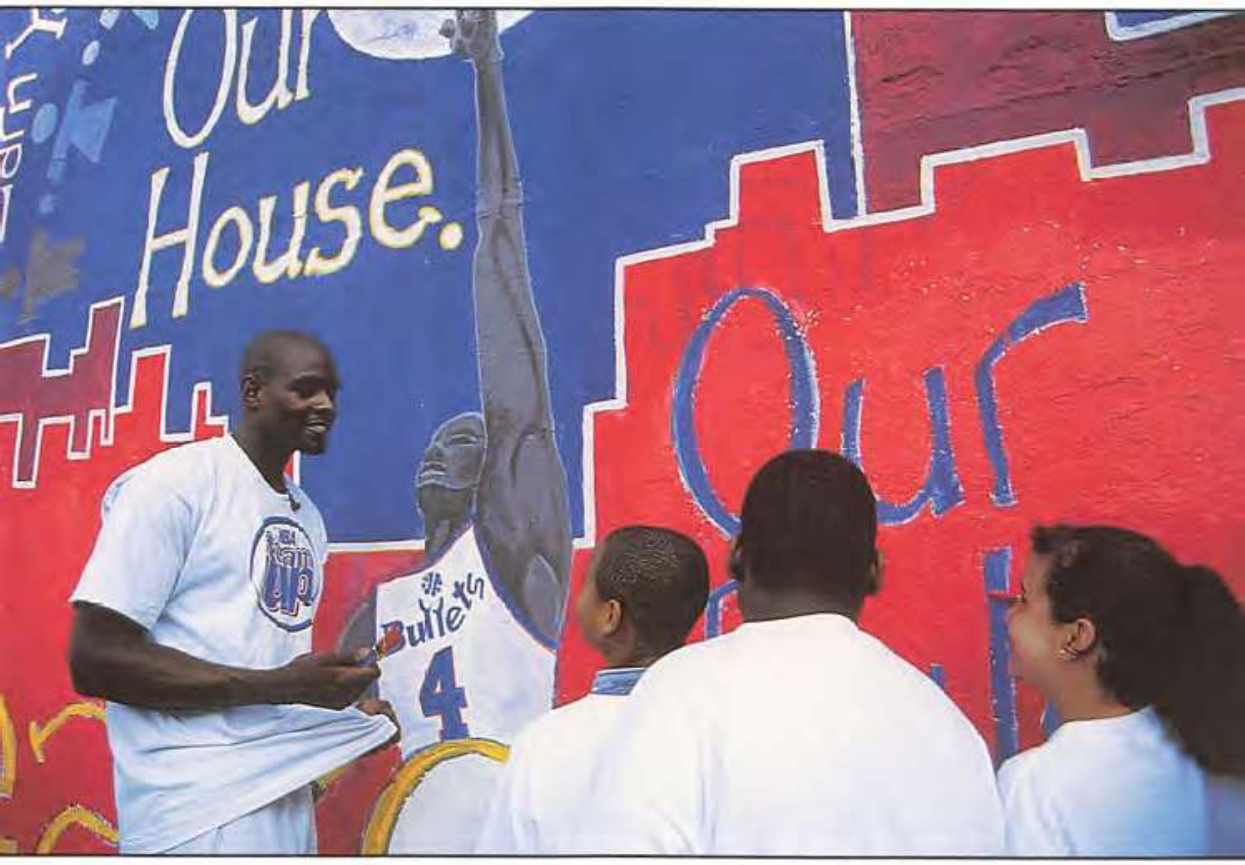
Players, coaches and teams support programs that positively impact their local communities, especially those programs that benefit youth. NBA players are frequently seen in public service announcements to promote awareness of social issues. They also participate in a variety of community outreach efforts.

The NBA TeamUp program, which made its debut in the 1996-97 season, encourages youth to improve their communities through volunteerism. The program includes a public service campaign, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players, and a youth service award.

In conjunction with Reading Is Fundamental, the leading non-profit children's literacy organization in the United States, the NBA helps emphasize the importance of youth literacy. Each March, the NBA and its teams recognize NBA Reading Month by holding Reading Time-Outs and book distributions at schools, libraries and youth organizations. The NBA also produces public service announcements focusing on the fun and fundamentals of reading.

In addition, the NBA continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the King Holiday and the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse.

Last season, Washington assisted in the painting of a mural in Washington, DC (pictured below) encouraging peer mediation and non-violent conflict resolution.



Wizards Dance Team

The Washington Wizards Dance Team is one of the newest and most exciting dance lines in the National Basketball Association. Formerly known as the Bullettes, the squad has thrilled fans at games since their inception and have become an intregal part of the community relations program. Members make many charitable appearances each season.

1996-97 Team Notes

The Dish:

Streaking Ahead: Washington won 16 of the last 21 contests to improve their record to 44-38, the franchise's best mark since 1978-79 (54-28). The team solidified the Eastern Conference's eighth playoff position with a win in their last game of the season. The last time Washington participated in the post-season was after the 1987-88 campaign. In 1995-96, the team finished the season at 39-43. Here's a look at the squad's most recent trends:

OVERALL: Won four	LONGEST: Won six; Lost five
HOME: Won eight	LONGEST: Won eight; Lost two
ROAD: Won two	LONGEST: Won five; Lost nine

Home Sweet Home: After a somewhat slow beginning, Washington defended their home court with great success down the stretch. The team has currently won eight consecutive home contests (3/22-present), the team's longest streak since their 15-game mark (2/9/89-4/7/89). The team's 25 home victories last year tied the 1995-96 high and is the most victories since the 1988-89 squad won 30 home contests. The team boasted a 22-game streak in 1975. In 1995-96, Washington managed a modest six-game streak (12/2-12/29).

Road Warriors: Washington saw much success on the road last season. The team has won nine of their last 13 games away from home, including a five game streak that ties the third longest road spree in franchise history. Their record (19-22) boasts the most away victories since the 1981-82 squad finished the season 21-20 on the road. In 1995-96, Washington ended with 14 road victories.

Spring Fling: A strong spring performance led Washington into the NBA Playoffs for the first time in nine seasons. After posting the best March record in franchise history (11-4), the team was 8-3 in April. Highlights of the run were: a 110-102 victory over the Chicago Bulls, ending the Portland Trail Blazers' 11-game winning streak, and two hard-fought victories over Indiana, effectively eliminating the playoff-savvy team from the post-season race.

Hot Shots: Once again, Washington ended the season as one of the league's best shooting teams. The team hit greater than .500 of its shots in eight of their last 14 games. Washington ranked second in the league in field goal percentage (.480, 3208-6678). In 1995-96, the team finished the season as the second-best shooting squad, hitting .484 of their field goal attempts.

New England Financial Services Assist Update: Rod Strickland was the team's assist leader in 73 contests this year. Strickland averaged 8.9 apg (fifth in the league). The 6-3 guard posted nine first quarter assists vs. New Jersey (4/11). As a team, Washington ranked seventh in the league in assists (23.4 apg).

Band of Thieves: Washington's defense wreaked havoc on their opposition last season. The team finished fourth in the league in turnovers forced (16.5 tpg) and ranked eighth in steals (8.7 spg). During the 1995-96 season, Washington ranked sixth in turnovers forced and 23rd in steals.

Double Trouble: Wizards forwards Juwan Howard and Chris Webber have developed into one of the best combinations in the NBA. The two players totaled 64 double-doubles last season (Howard-24, Webber-39), including eight during the same games (last vs. Boston 3/26). Rod Strickland added 39 double-doubles (points, assists). Webber posted a double-double by halftime at Philadelphia (4/14) and finished with 27 points and 21 rebounds. As a team, Washington produced three double-doubles on six different occasions (last vs. Chicago 4/3). In 1995-96, Washington accomplished this feat only once (vs. Phoenix 2/4/96).

Washington Wizards: Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment, announced on February 22, 1996 that the nickname of his 34-year-old NBA franchise would be changed from the Bullets to the Wizards. The name change took effect on May 15, 1997. The name Wizards was chosen by fans based on phone voting, beating out four other finalists. New logos, team colors and uniforms accompany the name change.

MCI Center: Construction on MCI Center, the future home of the Wizards, is in the final stages. Working crews continue to put in place spectator seating and apply finishing touches to the state-of-the-art facility. The Wizards are scheduled to open the building on December 2, 1997. The team opened the USAirways Arena (then named the Capital Centre) 24 years earlier on the same date. Providing a link to the future of downtown Washington, MCI has recently launched a website dedicated exclusively to MCI Center. Located at www.mcicenter.com, the new site will allow those interested to follow the construction progress through the "MCI Center Cam," which supplies "live" views of the facility, an interactive seating chart, a special games area for children and a comprehensive list of sports links.

Instant Access: For the latest information regarding the Wizards and the NBA, go online. The Wizards internet address is http://www.wizards.nba.com while the general NBA address is http://www.nba.com. Located on the Wizards web site are updated notes and stats on players and staff as well as one-on-one chat transcripts and feature articles. For more information, please contact any member of the Wizards PR Department.

Tough Ticket: Washington sold out 29 home games last season, playing before a capacity home crowd in 19 of the last 23 games. The team averaged 17,089 (.911 capacity) per game last year, marking the second highest average attendance in team history. In 1995-96, the team posted 29 sellouts, including 12 of the final 15 contests. The team finished the season averaging 16,789 fans in attendance per game (.895 capacity). Season tickets for this year are now on sale. For more information, please call (301) NBA-DUNK. For club seat and luxury accomodations, please contact the MCI Center sales office at (202) 624-9732.

In Memory: Washington players wore a black patch on their uniforms last season in honor of former assistant coach Derek Smith. Smith passed away in 1996 while aboard a promotional cruise. The Derek Smith Educational Trust Fund has been established by Abe and Irene Pollin and the Wizards to assist the Smith family with the financial arrangements for the college and graduate education of his children, Sydney and Nolan. Contributions may be sent to: Derek Smith Educational Trust Fund, c/o Chevy Chase Bank, Main Office Branch, 8401 Connecticut Ave., Chevy Chase, MD 20815.

NBA Playoff Format

1. Sixteen teams will qualify for the playoffs. There will be eight teams from each conference, consisting of the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage during the regular season.

2. The first round of the playoffs will be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA World Championship Series, being best-of-seven. All playoff teams will participate in the first round, byes that formerly went to division winners have been eliminated. Following are the playoff pairings:

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record; Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

NBA Playoff Tie-Breaking Procedure

TWO-WAY TIE

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the close of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Better winning percentage within own conference.
3. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in the same division).
4. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Better point differential between offense and defense.

MORE THAN TWO TEAMS TIED

1. Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all teams tied.
2. Best winning percentage within own conference.
3. Best winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Best winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Best point differential between offense and defense.

If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.

Media Information

Welcome to the innaugural season of Wizards basketball...this franchise's 36th year as a member of the NBA. The Wizards Public Relations Staff is looking forward to assisting you in your coverage of the Washington Wizards throughout the 1997-98 NBA season. In an effort to continue to provide a professional working environment, please adhere to the following guidelines for the season. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Maureen Lewis, Matt Williams or Doug Hicks in the Wizards Public Relations Department.

CREDENTIALS: Single game and season credentials should be requested by calling the Wizards Public Relations Office at (301) 773-2255. Single game credentials should be requested at least 24 hours in advance. Press and photo credentials are issued to accredited media members and will admit the bearer to the press room, locker rooms and press row. Credentials may be picked up at the press gate. Credentials must be visibly worn at all times.

PRESS ROOM: The press room will be open 1 $^{1}/_{2}$ hours prior to game time, during the game and following the game. We must limit press room usage to members of the media only. The professional intent of the press room is to provide a meeting and working place for writers, reporters, broadcasters and game personnel. Any abuse of the press room and/or press privileges will result in the forfeiture of your press pass. The working area of the press room is equipped with a fax machine, telephones, statistics, post-game quotes and other NBA scores.

LOCKER ROOM: In accordance with NBA policy, both the Wizards and the visiting locker rooms will be open to members of the media up to 45 minutes before game time and 10 minutes after the end of the game. No autographs allowed during media access periods.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Limited space is available at each end of the court for both television and still photographers holding proper credentials. Photographers must stay in the designated areas and are asked to be considerate of spectators seated directly behind them.

MEALS: A pre-game meal will be served in the press room prior to each game. In addition, beverages and snacks will be available at halftime and post-game.

GAME NOTES AND STATISTICS: Pre-game press notes, media guides and line-up sheets will be available in the press room prior to each game. Game statistics will be distributed to the working media during the game and will be available in the press room.

FOR MEDIA INFORMATION AND SERVICES, please contact Maureen Lewis, Mike Gathagan, Nicol Addison, or Matt Williams in the Wizards Public Relations Office at (301) 773-2255.
